Here are our two daily drivers. Both are 88s. Hers is the white one.

We get about 25 mpg on the road (80 mph on I-95, back and forth to DC, mostly), and 18 around town.

Both were orphans when I found them. We used the abandoned vehicle law to get the white one; the black one had been parked for a couple of years. We've owned the white one since 2000. It ruined me on Volvos, which I'd been driving for 25 years.

The black one has been mine since 2003. A second Scorpio was in order when "our" white one became "hers".
